Dear Sirs

I am a keyworker (Primary School Teacher) living in Plymouth but commuting to work over one hour each way. More housing needs to be built in local areas surrounding villages to accommodate for people wishing to live nearer their place of work - affordable housing at that.

My fuel bill each month is approaching £250, money which I could put towards a mortgage if I lived closer to my place of work.

Plymouth does not need this volume of housing, there is not a housing shortage here which is what the central government directive is suppose to be trying to accommodate.

The housing needs to be spread over a larger area giving less impact on resources in Plymouth

(Yours faithfully

Miss Laura Moulding
